

The Golden Triangle

By Shaman Elder Maggie Wahls

I want to teach you another tool tonight, a tool that is very powerful, given to me by my guides that you can use in many cases.

In ancient days the Golden Triangle was lost to the world because of its potential to create harm. The old masters kept it to themselves rather than let it be a weapon of evil for those men who would pervert it. They saw the power of it and the danger it could pose if put into the wrong hands. And because of this they did not teach it and instead kept it secret. So, am I doing right by bringing this tool back into the world today or am I, by sharing it with you, allowing those who choose chaos and evil to regain control of this tool for their own purposes? If you choose to teach this Golden Triangle to another, realize that, like me, you take on the karma of what that person does with this tool. Because you teach it, you are responsible for the good or the evil they use this tool for. Do not teach this tool lightly and recognize that you are accountable for the effects of how you use or teach this sacred tool. It is your karma and you are responsible.

The Golden Triangle is a gift from Source. It is letting Creator work with you and in you and through you to bring healing to another person place or thing and at the same time it protects you from the negative energies of that person, place or thing. It is a sacred tool that has been lost from all records and archives for centuries. But it has been returned to me through my guides and I am taking on the karma of sharing with you and imploring you to see the power of this tool and to use it only for good.

I want you to picture a triangle, just a two dimensional triangle. Visualize this golden triangle with golden energy traveling all the way around its three sides in both directions. Put yourself at one corner of the triangle; put me at the other bottom point of the triangle and put Creator at the top point. You can visualize it going from the top of your head to the top of my head and then up to Creator at the top and let Creator flow the energies.

Now you see that the energies coming from me to you do not stop with you but continue on up to Creator and back down from Creator to you and through you to me. You can visualize it going from the top of your head to the top of my head and then up to Creator at the top and let the energies flow; a continual flow both up and down and across in both directions.

The energy you send me does not stop with me but continues on up to Creator and then comes back from Creator down your leg of the triangle and down my side of the triangle so we are both receiving from Creator constantly. So instead of being a single line between you and me, we have this third energy with us; three sides interlacing and the energies go from me to you to Creator and from Creator to me to you and from Creator to you to me, and from you to me to Creator all back and forth constantly. Can you see it?

So instead of a one line of energy from me to you we have this extra light and love and healing of Creator in the mix here. Can you feel Creator in it now? It makes a difference doesn't it! And so we are letting Creator provide love and light and healing to each of us and to each other in this.

Now you can use this tool for many things. We could use it for the campus shootings, which recently occurred, by placing the campus where you have me now, on one bottom corner of the triangle, and you on the other and Creator at the top. This way you are allowing Creator to send Creator's own healing to the campus and to you and through you to the campus. Make sense? Much better than just a line between you and the campus yes?

And what if you had a person talking to you? You could put them on the bottom corner and they would be talking to Creator, sending their energies, not just to you, but through you to Creator and receiving healing from Creator as they speak to you, right? So let's say your friend is upset. You don't have to take her upset ness in a single line but you can make this triangle and let Creator work with her too as she talks to you. Her trauma does not end with you but continues around you to Creator.

I use this with clients I counsel and it seems to help them quickly release their facades so they can get to the healing work more quickly. Creator removes their emotional baggage while we talk. Creator opens them up as they talk to me and I don't have to be the end of the line this way. Creator works in me and with me and through me in this triangle. You can put anybody in this bottom corner of the triangle; any situation, any difficulty or issue, broken brakes, financial issues, whatever you are thinking of or anyone you are encountering.

It is a healing tool and it also protects you because you are no longer the end of a single line, the dead end for outside energies. You are now just a conduit corner in this triangle and you have Creator working with you now. You don't have to hold all the stuff you receive from someone or some issue. You let it go past you and up to the top of the triangle and Creator flows back down to you and through you to that person or situation. Whatever that person is sending you goes on up to Creator and that person receives from Creator and from you.

It is very linear; a one faced simple triangle. It will change depending on who you need to put on that bottom corner. You have to pay attention to it, keep it in your attention when you use it, but you can use it anytime. It really helps remove the negative energies from others. It appears to be a great balancing tool and gets you out of the way of those negative energies that you might have just dead end caught before, and it lets Creators intentions be manifest.

It won't work if you are not paying attention to it, intending to work with it. You intend it to be created but it is Creator who makes the healing flow. All things are based on your intentions. If you don't intend it to be there then you don't have it.

Do not use this tool without respect for its power. It is very powerful and like all tools it can be used carelessly and do harm. I give you a tool here. You can work with it and heal with it or destroy with it. It is a tool like a hoe. You can use a hoe to tend your garden or you can bash someone's head in with it, right? So use it as I teach it and in no other way. Don't play around with it just out of curiosity to see what else it can do. You have Creator in this and you have to respect that. This tool is Creator's tool and was given to me to use. I have seen it do miracles and I use it just as I was taught to do. I expect you to use it just as I teach it as well.

There is no need to ask the other person's permission to connect them to this golden triangle because there is no harm or violation of a person's free will in recognizing each person's connection to Creator. What they receive is their free will choice. It is the same as praying for someone. You do not need to ask permission to pray for someone.

It is easier for us to misuse this tool exactly because Creator is at the top. This is like a ceremony and you would want to do ceremony, where you involve Creator, perfectly, right? Taking tools like this lightly, the consequences of misusing it are a lot quicker to be felt than if one was to use a hoe the wrong way. Both are dangerous to you and to others. What if you sent out negative energy from your point on this triangle? Would that not be very bad for you and for the other person and for Creator, too? Do you want to send negative energy to Creator? I sure wouldn't! So you have to use this tool with love don't you! Compassion! If you don't have any compassion yourself, then don't use this tool. But if you can at least get out of the way of your emotions and allow Creator to work on you and on this person with this triangle, then it can heal both of you.

For the most part, this tool is not to heal you although you will receive many things from it. It helps heal other people or situations and it protects you from negativity coming at you from other people or situations because you do let their energy go past you up to Creator. You don't hold their negativity. It is like a shield deflecting negativity for you.

Did you ever have someone just spill their emotional guts on you and you didn't like that feeling and didn't know what to do with all that energy? Well, with this tool you can just let all that negative energy go up your leg of the triangle to Creator and receive healing from Creator at the same time and let that other person receive healing down their leg of the triangle, too. You will be surprised at how Creator takes their dumped baggage right up from their leg of the triangle without ever hitting you because they are now connected with Creator directly. They clear out fast and easy without dumping on you so much and anything that comes your way you can just send up your leg to Creator. It opens lines of clear communication physically, emotionally and spiritually.

Some people will even ask you why they feel different and you can say because you recognize their connection to Creator and they will go Hmmm! And think about that fact that they are indeed connected to Creator and see how that feels to you.

It is not about creating intentions of your own. You are simply allowing Creator's intentions to travel through the triangle. Creator already knows what needs to be done.

So use this tool with respect for its power and know that you are in the presence of Creator directly when you use it. It is like going to a holy place; sitting in a cathedral or a holy ground when you use this tool. It is sacred, very sacred! If you cannot use it with holiness then don't use it. You can create the triangle but you cannot flow the energies. Only Creator can do that. I know that those of you who are not ready for this tool will forget about it quickly. It is your choice to use the Golden Triangle and you are responsible and accountable for your choices, always.
